OUR AIM

“Our aim is to provide access to sport to the children of Gejha, an urban-slum community in Noida and train them in the sport of Basketball.”

Infrastructure is the backbone of sports. Several empirical studies have established sports as a beneficial activity having a positive impact on the state of health, education and the economy.

OUR FOUNDER

01
APRIL

Pradyut Voleti is the Founder and Head Coach at Dribble Academy, a leading basketball skill development academy. Pradyut has personally trained under USA's leading Basketball Skill Development Trainer Ganon Baker. His dream is to spread the love for basketball in India, and change the way the game is taught and played in India! He went around different schools around the country conducting Basketball camps and interacted with many students teaching them the new drills and skills he had learnt. He envisions to impact many lives alongside his goal of spreading Basketball to every corner of this country.

FOUNDER, DAF

THE JOURNEY SO FAR

Dribble Academy Foundation is a non-profit founded in the year 2014. DAF aimed to target “at risk” children in village Gejha and provide them with life skill through Basketball. The organisation has managed provide basketball and life skills training to over 500 children in Gejha. Shaily, a DAF student who impressed everyone with her basketball skills managed to secure a full scholarship to Shiv Nadar School, Noida.

DAF's CENTRE OF ACTIVITY

BASKETBALL

Basketball is the backbone to the development of the children at DAF. We currently have 500+ children getting trained everyday. Children are divided in three categories depending on their skill level and age. Each batch gets an hour on the court where they practice and play while the other batches are being tutored. There are two teachers currently who conduct the classes.

GEJHA, N.E.M | 2017

“Basketball is the means to a better life for the children at DAF. It's not just physical fitness that it impacts but the way of life and how you treat others around you, you learn to stretch your limits and never give up and most importantly, learn to become a better member of the society and a better citizen of this country.”

- Pradyut Voleti,
Founder(DAF)

EDUCATION

Alongside Basketball the children of DAF also get tutored in subjects such as Mathematics, Social Science, Science and English. Out of the four hours these children spend on DAF grounds, two hours are occupied in studying and learning about current affairs. Every week they watch documentaries on world events and practicing public speaking where each child selects an issue they'd like to address and educate their fellow teammates.

DRIBBLING DREAMS: A SHORT FILM ON D.A.F

The seven-and-a-half-minute film traces the journey of basketball coach Pradyut Voleti and his Dribbling Academy in Gejha village in Noida, where he trains close to 300 underprivileged children in basketball. The documentary details the success stories of these children and highlights the significance of sports in their lives. This documentary was made by Varun Tandon, a longstanding supporter of DAF and its work.

DAF's CHILDREN VISIT TO THE AMERICAN EMBASSY SCHOOL

At DAF, we regularly compete against other basketball teams, it allows members of all abilities to get involved and most importantly, it's fun. The competitive edge makes the children give in their best and perform as a team. This exposure also helps them in a long run as they get more confident with each match and understand what they require to perform as a team. The American Embassy School invited the girls of DAF to compete against their team where our girls performed excellently and surprised everyone with their skills.

Competition keeps you honest with yourself, it keeps you constantly pushing in the right direction. It's only natural to apply more effort when the stakes are higher and less effort when the outcome is of less importance. With greater effort in sport comes greater improvement in a variety of different areas and potentially awards.

LOCAL NEWS COVERAGE

“An evening day in the court starts at 3pm with beginners practising their skill of dribbling, passing, rebounding, shooting, doing planks, footwork, running and pounding. A group of girls in a makeshift classroom are watching a motivational video on Pat Summitt, the legendary women's basketball coach. Anyone can join irrespective of age but they cannot be promoted to junior and senior level if they haven't learnt the basics of passing, dribbling and shooting. “They have to earn it,”

THE INDIAN EXPRESS

Since the start of the DAF programme in 2016, the organisation has seen many volunteers and participants who have come forward to help these children and impact their lives in some way. The constant exposure and indulgence has helped us in bridging the gap between the two groups and establish connections with people in and around the community.

STRENGTH IN NUMBERS

Pradyut Voleti, our founder started the Gejha Project with just 5 children. The project had a strength of 100 students in the year 2015, out of which 20 students were girls. The fight to get the girls to come out and play alongside the boys was a tough one.

After a few students came in and started playing this new sport they learnt, it started appealing to the children in the other parts of the community. Slowly the DAF was full of young children who were dribbling and making baskets in no time.

CURRENT STATS

330 BOYS

170 GIRLS

The target is to indulge the children into meaningful activities and to empower them with better decision making abilities and turning them into responsible citizens. Some of the children are victims of substance abuse and petty thefts and as privileged member of the society it is our duty to help those amongst us who are not as resourceful as us.
